

Digpro Appoints Sales Director

Stefan Multing has been recruited as the new sales director for Power Utilities at Digpro and will be focusing on developing international sales in the power industry. Stefan Multing comes from a similar role within ABB. He will be focussing on developing and expanding international sales within the power industry.

Stefan Multing comes from a similar role at ABB where he worked as a regional sales manager for the past 6.5 years. In the past Stefan has worked for both small and major software companies and holds a degree from Stockholm University in Economics and Information Technology.