MapQuest Latin America

MapQuest Services (CO, USA), a provider of software to location-enable web and wireless applications, has introduced street-level mapping for major Latin American countries including Brazil, Mexico and Argentina. The company now offers detailed coverage for nearly two dozen countries in North America, Latin America and Europe and hundreds of major metropolitan areas around the world. Updates are released each quarter. Its Advantage unified product architecture enables the deployment of location-enabled solutions, either as a Web service or ASP with MapQuest hosting the data, or as a behind-the-firewall solution in a customerâ€™s own data centre.
